to take into consideration the matter of a new cometery. As many of our readers are deeply interested in this subject, we state for their in-formation that the committee are making all the progress that is possible. They addressed a cir-cular to most of the largest cities of the Union, saking for information, both in regard to pub-lic and private cemeteries, and they have re-ceived a great mase of documents, full of infor-mation of great practical importance. They are is constant receipt of other documents, all which it will take some time to arrange and properly digest. It is to be hoped that in a few weeks the committee will be able to make a report which will be entirely satisfactory to all our citizens.

Lacrens or Paris are orne Parison.—Professor Miser, of the Chienge University, having resided several years in Paris, will deliver the above lecture, for the benefit of Union Park Baptiss Church, Rev. A. J. Josiyn, Pastor, at the First Baptist Church, to-morrow evening, at 7½ o'clock. The Professor has a fine map of his own preparing, of this city of bon mote and bon tons, now so justly distinguished as the home of the wonderful Benaparte family. With the antiquities and magic historic associations of Paris, it is expected that this lecture, with the ladies festival which is to follow it, will be a ferrific property and the property of the professor of the wonderful Benaparte family.

of Paria, it is expected that this lecture, with the ladies featival which is to follow it, will be a rich repast for the inner and souward man. The lecture has been repeated before the literary societies of Rochester, N. Y., and the papers have noticed it with commendation.

Pransonal.—The "Old Doctor," John A. Kennicott, of The Gross, Cook county, passed through our city yesterday, on his way to Washington, whither he goes at the invitation of the Agricultural Department, to meet some three score more of his agricultural and horticultural brethren, for the discussion of agricultural and its statistics. AN ELECTRO-CHEMICAL ECLOGUE. BY CLIVER WENDELL BOLNES. Professor. Hue Nose,
Tell me, O Provincia! speak. Ceruleo-Nasa! Lives there one old De Sauly, extant now among you, Whispering Boars gas, and of slient thunder,

The Use of the Camel in the United States.

Major Henry C. Wayne, who has been engaged for some years in the experiment of introducing the camel into this country, gives the result of his observations—in-the National Intelligence. The climate range of the anithe result of in socierations statue range of the ani-mal, he says, is from 15 to 52 deg., north lati-tude. The cost of a camel landed at Mobile or Pensacola will be from $£50, to $200. No animal can be more easily transported, and a hundred camels will not make so much trou-ble or being the transported.

M" The camel does not consume more food than a borse or mule; prefers a coarse diet; satisfies itself readily with scanty grazing or browsing; requires feeding but once a day, being a ruminent; and would be with difficulty distressed for water. It requires no close stable, only a shed protecting it from cold northerly winds and from falling weather; and requires no grooming, although certainly healthir and better, like all other animals with a clean skin. The camel is undoubtedly a hardler and tougher animal than the horse; not surpassed, if equalled, in these respects, by the mule; and with half the forage of cither, and with two or three hours of grazing or browsing, can be kept in condition. In addition to the economy in forage, the use of camels save the outlay for wagons satisfies itself readily with scanty grazing or browsing; requires feeding but once a day, being a ruminent; and would be with difficulty distressed for water. It requires no close stable, only a shed protecting it from cold northerly winds and from falling wentier; and requires no grooming, aithough certainly healthir and better, like all other animals with a clean skin. The camel is undoubtedly a hardier and tougher animal than the horse; not surpassed, if equalled, in these respects, by the mule; and with half the forage of either, and with two or three hourses of grazing or browsing, can be kept in condition. In addition to the economy in forage, the use of camels save the outlay for wagons and carts, harnes, shoes, and the necessary repairs of them. The pack-saddle being so simple in its construction as to be readily single of the conditions of the many conditions.

and carts, harnes, shoes, and the necessary repairs of them. The pack-saddle being so simple in its construction as to be readily made on the phantations, its cost will be but triffing. Its weight, moreover, compared with that of a wagon or cart, increases the physical energy devoted to the transportation of goods. For short distances, say about a plantation, or for six or eight miles on the road, a strong camel will eary on an average from 800 to 1,000 pounds. The Tiulus of Asia Minor, the produce of the double hausped Bactrian male on the single-humped Arabian female, will average, for the same distance, from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds.

"So far, the general advantages from aning camels may be summed up as follows: They will flourish as well in the United States as either horses or mules. They may be introduced wt Mobile or Pensacola at rates not greater—certailly not smale greater, than present prices for good mules. They are not as expensive to feed as horses or mules. They are not as expensive to feed as horses or mules. They are not as expensive to feed as horses or mules. They are not as expensive to feed as horses or mules from require no close stables nor grooming. They are as tough and as hardy as either horse or mule. They save a beavy outlay for wagons, carts, hartesses and shoes, and a constant tax for their repairs. Theirphysical energy is not largely drawn upon for the draught of a wagon or cart, and therefore is proportionately given more usefully to the transportation of goods. They will do more energy is not largely drawn upon for the draught of a wagon or eart, and therefore is proportionately given more usefully to the transportation of goods. They will do more work at the same or and keeping than either horse or mule.

These are the general advantages that I think may be fairly claimed for the camel. Now, let us examine how for this animal, with these advantages, may be suitable for our plantation or farm uses. In Egypt I have seen the camel used in cities and in the country, on plantations, in fields and on the road, for every purpose that horses and mules are used with us. I have seen them transporting bricks and broken stone from yard and quarries for buildings, sleepers, rafters, scantling, boards for flooring, &c. I have seen them carrying chopped straw, corn, cotton, fodder, merchandise of all kinds, men, women and children, and with their burdens stepping intelligently and with sure footedness into and out of clumsy ferry boats. And I have seen them usefuly occupied in carrying burdens on the dams and check banks of rice plantations. Is there anything more than these uses that our plantations and farm require?

Urons Raid Journal of Health.

If a man faints away, instead of yelling out like a savage, or running to him to lift him up, lay him at full length on his back on the floor, loosen the clothing, push the crowd away so as to allow the air to reich him, and let him alone. Dashing water over a person in a simple fainting fit is a barbarity, and soils the clothing unnecessarily. The philosophy of a fainting fit is, the heart falls to send the proper supply of blood to the brain if the person is erect, that blood has to be thrown up hill, but if lying down, it has to be projected horizontally—which requires less power: is apparent.

If a person swallows poison, deliberately or by chance instead of breaking out into maitindfhous and liscoherent exclamation, despatch some one for a docter; meanwhile run to the kitchen, get half a glass of water in anything that is handy, put into its a teaspoon furil of salt and as much ground innustard, stir it in an instant, catch a firm hold of the person's nose, the mouth will soon fly open, then down with the mixture, and in a second or two up will come the poison. This will answer in a large number of cases than any other. If, by this time, the physician which we have in a large number of cases than any other. Fanner DI Varnoza.—The prowers of Imperial Engenie has spread a cantagion of Disana Venousm among the ladies of France. All the antum, not only arching and teneing has had its fair adepts, but rowing matches on the Scine, between $1. Cloud and $1. Germaics, were feminine amusements; and Mile. Alponsine O.—feathered an oar or a scull against all comers. It is true that Madamic Lefay has been for some years a prominent winner on the tarf'; and as to game illegies, lidy fowlers have paid the tax at Strasburg, Melun, Lillo, Tours and Polotiers.

Quish Place for an Epiron.—The editor of the Hind's County tazette, who lost his office by the late destructive fire in Baymond, Miss., having collected his trapp together, thus annonnees his position;

"Having passed through the purification of fire, we have gone, where the pure should ever be found, in the Church. Those of our friends who may have business with us, can find us in the Episcopal church, where we are ready for every good word and work."

—The Columbus (Ohio) Statesman tells of a singular affair that occurred on the railroad at Crestline, on Friday night. A man and woman, who were passengers on the train, handed a lady passenger a small bundle to take charge of it until they should return. The man and woman did not return, and on opening the bundle it was found to contain a live baby. The child was adopted by a Columbus police officer.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Intelligencer chronicles

Columbus police officer.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Intelligencer chronicles the arrival in that city of a gentleman from Carroll county, in the interior, named Mr. Hodgman Rabunt, a gentleman who is 40 years of age, and had never, until that time, seen a town, a railroad, or a steam engine. He was never twenty miles away from home in his lite, and had never seen Chattahoo-chee River until he crossed it on his way to that place. Was 36 years old before he was married, when he was united to a charming young lady of 15 summers. Has been a Baptist preacher, a school teacher, find a country merchant. He is still a resident of "Sweet Carroll," the land of chivalry and song.

The Open Polar Sea---Upinion of Agassiz.
Dr. Hayes, companion of Dr. Kane in his Arctic explorations, lectured before the New York historical society, Thursday evening, in Sehalf of his scheme for another expedition in Senalf of his scheme for another expedition in the open polar sea. He hopes to be ready to start in 1860. He read a letter from Prof. Agassis, confirming his opinions, and saying:

"I beg to add a word with regard to Dr. Hayes's expedition. I consider it as highly important, not only in a scientific point of view, but particularly so for the interest of the whale fisheries. The organization of these huge inhabitants of the ocean seems to me to farmish the most direct proof that there is an open sen in the Arctic. The whales being warm blooded, air breathing animals, must come to the surface to breathe. They cannot live without it. Now it is well known that during the winter they are not found outside—that is, to the south of tha ice-belt of the Arctic seas. They retreat northward during the cold season, and if the of tha ice-belt of the Arctic seas. They retreat northward during the cold season, and if the whole expanse of that Arctic sea was covered with ice, they would necessarily perial during the long winter. I do not know a more direct evidence of the presence of extensive open water in the northernmost regions of the globe, than the mode of life of the whales; and the discovery of a passage into that open water, which would render whale fishing possible during the winter, would be one of the most important results for the improvement of whale fishing. The argument may not strike forcibly one who is not acquainted with the structure of the whale, but in a physiologist it must be irresistible."

temarkable Case of Captivity Mexico. Remarkable Case of Captivity inf Mexico.

A most remarkable case of captivity and suftering in the prisons of Mexico, is given by a gestieman whose case has too tardily been taken notice of by our Government. J. M. Airas, in March, 1857, was residing in the Gadeden Purchase, contiguous to Sonore, when the party of Americans under Henry A. Crabbe, brother in-law of Airas, entered the latter State, and became the victim of Mexican crueity.

Shortly afterwards Ainas was seized on American soil, and marched across the line into Sonora. After witnessing the butchery of four companions, he was kept in durance sixteen months, suffering the greatest indignities, a portion of the time under sentence of death, until intelligence reached Guaymas that a United States vossel was shortly to visit the ere to inquire into the case, when he was quietly shipped off to Marstian and set at liberty, and ultimately reached Sar Francisco. The narrative presents one of the greatest series of outrages which has ever been brought to the public sitention.

three or four times, but could not. When he swoke (for he had been saleep) on the seven-teenth day, he says he heard a voice which said—"rise, rise, and go home," when he made his way to the house as above stated.
